

PICTORIAL HISTORY FOR RAINBOW BOYS

Photographer Makes 1,170 Views of Experiences of Ambulance Company During War.

THE REUNION STARTS TODAY

Invites Men to Take Plunge in Pool After Seeing Matinee at Moving Picture Theater.

Former members of the Tulsa Ambulance company will take home from their first annual reunion which opens in the auditorium fourth floor municipal building at 10 o'clock this morning, a full pictorial record of the part their organization played in the war.

All photographs taken by members of the company from the time it left Tulsa until it returned have been posted. Throughout the summer a local photographer has been making prints. Each man at the meeting will receive a 117-page book of photographs which will be mounted in an album.

Captain Samuel J. Bradfield, who commanded the organization during the last months of its service, has been in charge of having the pictures prepared for his men.

The Y. M. C. A. has invited members of the Oklahoma chapter of the Rainbow division veterans to take a plunge in the pool in the afternoon after the special matinee of which Glenn Condon, member of the Majestic theater, has invited them.

After the automobile tour of the city in the afternoon the men will gather at the Keichum hotel at 7 o'clock for a banquet and the closing session of the reunion. In his capacity as head of the entertainment committee Vergil Jones has prepared a musical program to follow the banquet. Major Alva J. Niles, Captain Samuel J. Bradfield and Glenn Condon, representing the American Legion, will speak.

Members of the organization from outside the city are being entertained at the homes of those who live in Tulsa.

countries under the labor article of a treaty unratified by our country. It is his declared purpose to convene an American soil a meeting of alien governments with our own regardless of whether the treaty has become the law of this republic or not.

"Limiting the laborers of this country to the narrow definition of the president even, there is no land in which the rights of labor are so liberal and cared for as ours. This paragraph of the president's address is 100 per cent demagogic. It is an appeal to the lawless, a covert invitation to the ever-present dissatisfied, restless element to demand what they seek."

"The president has already played with firebrands sufficiently to have informed him of the danger. He has yoked himself up with revolutionaries so frequently as to know he cannot check their mad race as the goal of lawlessness. His open declaration that he proposes to convene an American soil radicals as well as others from foreign governments is a proclamation of lawlessness and contemptuous disregard of the United States government. Again we have what we declared. I am the state." Have the American people quit electing presidents and begun to elect kings?" Public officials have been impeached for less flagrant violation of the laws of their country than this!"

British interests at the Paris peace conference deliberately created difficulties as to their respective ideals of peace" between Italy and the United States for economic reasons. State senator S. A. Costello of New York declared today before the senate foreign relations committee, "He appeared in behalf of Italy's claims to Flums."

Italian national development in the Mediterranean had been prevented by the British he said, and "a cordial understanding between the United States and Italy would mean a reduction of English power in Europe."

Answering a question by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, Senator Costello declared that while the people of Flums would trust the United States they would not trust a League of nations to procure their rights.

Actors Win Strike.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The actors' strike, which started nearly four weeks ago in New York and resulted in the closing of nearly 200 theaters in this and other cities, was called off early this morning under an agreement which was declared to be a complete victory for the Actors' Equity association.

ters of the alphabet that properly follow his name?" Mayor Allen was asked.

"Sir John," repeated the mayor, shaking with laughter. "Say, I can't even say it without laughing. No, sir. He's going to be plain Johnny. And that is just what he will want to be. Lord knows he's been generalized enough by this time, and 'Johnny' is going to sound powerful good to him."

The mayor sent the following telegram to the general: "Laclede, your old home, your school friends and old acquaintances are calling you. When may we expect you home?"

Several days ago the answer came: "I have heard the call. Will be there after my arrival in the United States. Can't give you definite date now, but will let you know later."

Folks here feel certain October will be the month and are planning accordingly.

SAYS AMERICA

ready for schemes of conquest to be sprung.

The league of nations without the United States, the president said, would be an alliance and not a league of nations.

America Needed.

"There can be no league of nations in a true sense; he continued, unless the United States is a part of it. This league of nations without the United States, the president said, could never be a real league of nations like this great people. And if we are a partner let me predict we'll be the senior partner. The other nations are looking to us for leadership and direction."

It was a clear voice, said the president between "armistice" and "peaceful partnership". He said he had heard it asserted with "amazing ignorance" that this league would be a league of war.

I wonder, he continued, if some of the gentlemen who are commenting on this treaty have read it. There isn't a phrase of doubtful meaning in the whole document."

When the president said if some body would give him the name of one of these gentlemen he sent him a copy, several people in the crowd yelled: "Hoody."

The president laughed.

The league opponents, said the president, seemed to be "figuring out how soon we could get out of it." Then he added:

"For one or not a quitter," and got another cheer from the crowd.

Plan on Breaking Pact.

All the arguments of the opposition, Mr. Wilson said, were based on an assumption that everyone was going to break the covenant and that bad faith was to be the universal rule.

He described the arbitration and boycott provisions of the covenant and said if any nation went to war after these means had been exhausted meant that nation was determined to run amuck anyway.

The president declared there was no party politics in the treaty and asserted that both the republican and democratic national platforms in 1916 advocated such an arrangement as the league of nations. So at Paris, he said, he had been obeying both parties.

Should America fail to take its just part in world rehabilitation, the president asserted, the whole attitude of the world toward America would be changed. Because the world trusted so much, he said, the "reaction" would be accordingly great.

Emphasizing how economic features figure in war, Mr. Wilson described how the Germans had dismantled Belgian factories. The war, he added, was not a political war, but a "commercial and industrial war."

Should the United States stand apart economically and politically, the president continued, then it must be "physically ready" for trouble. "The nation must become, he said, 'a nation in arms.'

"You can't afford to be unfriendly to everybody," he continued, "unless you can afford to have everybody unfriendly to you."

Germany was not the only nation which had secret service. Mr. Wilson said, but every other nation in Europe also was spying on its neighbors, because they all had to be on their guard.

The American people, said Mr.

WOUNDED WITNESS APPEARS IN COURT

Negro With Two Bullets in His Body and Little Finger Shot Off Hand
Ready for Trial.

Two bullet wounds in his body and the little finger of his right hand missing failed to prevent the plaintiff during witness in his appearance yesterday. Elmer Maxey, negro charged with assault without malice against witness, was placed under bond of $10,000 at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing yesterday. Justice S. C. Maxey, of Justice Court, said that the defendant, Maxey, was not before the magistrate, but that before the magistrate came Elmer Maxey, before the same plating witness, collected while working for the Standard Oil Co. to read the defendant. Maxey made exception to some questions put to him and pulled a revolver from his pocket and held it over the witness. The witness said that he heard gun shot and then was told to leave town and that he couldn't remain in the city.

FATHER BRINGING SUIT AGAINST SON

Parent Claims Boy Has Refused to Turn Over Rents From Property Owned by Him.

Declaring his son has received rents and profits from Tulsa oil property owned by the father and has refused to make an accounting to the latter, the plaintiff was filed in the district court yesterday by P. R. Williams, the father, seeking judgment of $200 against the son.

The plaintiff claims he purchased the property September 27, 1909, and for some time collected the rents, but that the defendant thereafter collected at least $200 in rents, which he failed to pay to the father.

BOY CHARGED WITH THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

Raymond Lashmet, 17 Years Old,
Hold Under Bond of $2,000 for Trial in District Court.

Raymond Lashmet, charged with the larceny of an automobile August 25, was committed to jail yesterday at his preliminary hearing before Justice S. C. Maxey, under bond of $2,000 for trial by the district court. Lashmet, a 17-year-old boy, was captured at 10 p.m. in possession of the car, it is alleged, in the county, an hour after the theft. It is believed the boy's father will allow the defendant to share a cell of guilty and receive a sentence in the state reformatory.

PROPERTY OWNERS WILL BE FORCED TO CUT WEEDS

Preparations which will begin about a campaign against the owner of property overgrown with weeds were made yesterday at a meeting of the mayor and board of city commissioners when C. P. Marshall, attorney, was instructed by Mayor Hubbard to prepare an ordinance dealing with the weed question.

It was stated at the meeting that the weed crop, thriving in various sections throughout the city, was menace to civic health. Expressions from the city commissioners intimated that the ordinance, which will probably be passed upon presentation at the Tuesday meeting, will be drastic in nature.

Senators Johnson, California, Borah, Idaho, and McCormick, Illinois, republicans, are to address a mass meeting of the League of Nations tonight. Wednesday Senator Johnson will proceed later to other cities speaking Thursday at Indianapolis, Friday at St. Louis and Saturday at Kansas City. Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, will speak Sunday at Akron, Ohio, and Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, will make an address next week at Salem, N. Y. Senator Poinsett, republican, Washington, will speak Monday at Louisville, Ky., and Senator Costello at Pittsburgh and New York City.

The president declared there was no party politics in the treaty and asserted that both the republican and democratic national platforms in 1916 advocated such an arrangement as the league of nations. So at Paris, he said, he had been obeying both parties.

Should the United States stand apart economically and politically, the president continued, then it must be "physically ready" for trouble. "The nation must become, he said, 'a nation in arms.'
